

TEAM ARMY BIO

First Lieutenant Victoria Rollin, stationed at Fort Liberty, North Carolina, faced significant mental health challenges during her last deployment. After returning to the U.S. and undergoing a medical evacuation, she was placed in the Soldier Recovery Unit (SRU). There, she immersed herself in the Army Recovery Care Program (ARCP), driven by a determination to regain her independence.

Now, with renewed resolve, Rollin aims to demonstrate her resilience by representing Team Army at the Department of Defense Warrior Games, showing her commitment to overcoming any hurdle. Outside of her military responsibilities, she enjoys a range of physical and outdoor activities, including yoga, hiking, and paddle boarding, often enhanced by her love for music.
